

Tourism Snapshot

A focus on the markets in which the CTC and its partners are active

Key highlights

- Total arrivals from CTC's international markets rose 2.1% in January 2014. Strength in both the Core markets (+2.4%) and the Emerging and Transition markets (+21.8%) was somewhat muted by flat arrivals from the US (-0.3%).
- Overnight arrivals from China surged 63.7% during the Chinese New Year holiday period (the official day of celebration was Jan. 31). Although temporary, this increase in travel made China (26,762 arrivals) the single largest inbound overseas market for Canada, placing it ahead of the UK (26,344 arrivals) for the first time. The holiday came in February last year, so results for the two months will need to be considered in aggregate.
- Excluding China, Emerging and Transition markets grew 5.3% on gains from all markets except Brazil (-2.2%). Mexico (+14%) and India (+8.1%) saw the largest increases in arrivals in this group.
- A weak January from France (-4.2%) stood in contrast to strong performances from the other CTC Core markets in Germany (+7.5%), Australia (+6.1%) and the UK (+3%).

International trips

- Canada welcomed approximately 700,000 international visitors in January, an increase of 3.1% compared with the same month in 2013.
- Overnight arrivals from Germany (+7.5%), Australia (+6.1%) and the UK (+3%) rose in January, while those from France declined (-4.2%). Total arrivals from CTC's Core markets numbered 74,272, up 2.4% over January 2013.
- Total arrivals from CTC's Emerging and Transition markets (Japan, South Korea, Mexico, Brazil, China and India) rose 21.8% in January to 70,724. Arrivals from Mexico (+14%) and India (+8.1%) expanded strongly, but it was a surge in arrivals from China (+63.7%) during the Chinese New Year holiday period that dominated the results.

United States

- Overnight visitation from the US edged down 0.3% in January to 476,284. Auto (+0.4%) and air (+1.4%) arrivals increased modestly, while the number of travellers arriving by other means declined 14%.
- In January, only the provinces of Quebec (+4.7%), British Columbia (+9.4%) and Yukon (+8%) saw gains in the number of overnight US border-crossing arrivals.

Core Markets

- Contrary to the decline seen in France (-4.2%), arrivals from Germany (+7.5%) and the UK (+3%) surged ahead in January. German arrivals to Ontario (+17.5%) were particularly strong.
- In January 2014, arrivals from Australia increased 6.1% to 18,167, with most of the gains going to Alberta (+16.5%) and British Columbia (+7%).

Emerging Markets

- Overnight arrivals from China surged 63.7% during the busy Chinese New Year travel period at the end of January, leading the Emerging and Transition markets to a 21.8% gain overall. The holiday fell on January 31 this year, compared with February 10 in 2013, so the two months will need to be considered in aggregate in order to determine year-over-year organic growth.
- The temporary bump in travel made China (26,762 arrivals) the single largest inbound overseas market for Canada in January, placing it ahead of the UK (26,344 arrivals) in the monthly rankings for the first time.
- Excluding China, Emerging and Transition markets grew 5.3% on strong performances from Mexico (+14%) and India (+8.1%). Japan (+4.7%) and South Korea (+3.5%) also saw gains, while arrivals from Brazil (-2.2%) declined.

Market Watch

- Arrivals from other selected European markets were generally positive in January 2014: Switzerland (+5%), Spain (+8.1%) and Italy (+9.5%) all moved ahead compared with January 2013, while arrivals from Netherlands (-6.1%) declined.
- In January, arrivals from Hong Kong (+58.4%) and Taiwan (+34.1%) surged ahead in connection with the busy Chinese New Year holiday travel period.
